To be completed by the applicant by inserting references to the paragraphs/sections/parts of the BCR documents and, if necessary, any supporting documents, that address the respective requirement. Please note that all mandatory content needs to be included in the BCR documents (in the core document(s) or its annexes), while "supporting documents" (i.e. documents that are not part of the BCR) may only be submitted for reasons of further explanation. Furthermore, it is not necessary to "copy & paste" text from the BCR documents, but it suffices mentioning the relevant sections of the documents as such. Examples: "Section 4.1 of the BCR document and paragraph 2.1 of Annex I (intra-group agreement); Part 2, Section 4 of the Application", "Section 2.1 of the BCR document and paragraph 3 of Annex 2 (Audit concept)". <sup>2</sup> References in this paper to GDPR provisions do not imply that GDPR applies directly to the BCR members acting as data importers, but should rather be understood as the threshold for commitments that need to be made in a BCR. If the BCR make reference to GDPR provisions, possible wording to indicate this might e.g. be "in line with Article X of the GDPR", "... as those provided for by Article X of the GDPR".

- Cooperation duties with Supervisory Authorities (Art.Competent SAs (see Article 47-(2-)(j), (k-and I, Section 3.1 of this referential),
- Liability and jurisdiction provisions (Art. 47.2.e and f, Section 1.3, 1.4 of this referential). In particular, the BCRs must confer the right to lodge a complaint with the competent supervisory authority (choice before the SA in the Member State of his habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement, pursuant to art. 77 GDPR)), and before the competent court of the EU Member States (choice for the data subject to act before the courts where the controller or processor has an establishment or where the data subject has his or her habitual residence pursuant to Article 79 GDPR).

The BCRs should expressly confer to the data subjects the right to judicial remedies(I) GDPR, and the right to obtain redress and, where appropriate, compensation in case of any breach of one of the enforceable elements of the BCRs as enumerated above (see Articles 77 – 82 GDPR).

&lt;sup>13</sup> As regards the impact of such laws and practices on compliance with the BCR, different elements may be considered as part of an overall assessment. Such elements may include relevant and documented practical experience with prior instances of requests for disclosure from public authorities, or the absence of such requests, covering a sufficiently representative time-frame. This refers in particular to internal records or other documentation, drawn up on a continuous basis in accordance with due diligence and certified at senior management level, provided that this information can be lawfully shared with third parties. Where this practical experience is relied upon to conclude that the data importer will not be prevented from complying with the BCR, it needs to be supported by other relevant, objective elements, and it is for the BCR members to consider carefully whether these elements together carry sufficient weight, in terms of their reliability and representativeness, to support this conclusion. In particular, the BCR members have to take into account whether their practical experience is corroborated and not contradicted by publicly available or otherwise accessible, reliable information on the existence or absence of requests within the same sector and/or the application of the law in practice, such as case law and reports by independent oversight bodies.

Upon verification of such notification, the BCR member acting as data exporter, along with the Liable BCR member(s) and the relevant Privacy officer or Function, should commit to promptly identify supplementary measures (e.g. technical or organisational measures to ensure security and confidentiality) to be adopted by the BCR member acting as data exporter and/or data importer, in order to enable them to fulfil their obligations under the BCR-C. The same applies if a BCR member acting as data exporter has reasons to believe that a BCR member acting as its data importer can no longer fulfil its obligations under this BCR-C.
Where the BCR member acting as data exporter, along with the Liable BCR member(s) and the relevant Privacy officer or Function, assesses that the BCR-C – even if accompanied by supplementary measures – cannot be complied with for a transfer or set of transfers, or if instructed by the Competent SAs, it commits to suspend the transfer or set of transfers at stake, as well as all transfers for which the same assessment and reasoning would lead to a similar result, until compliance is again ensured or the transfer is ended.
The BCR-C should contain a commitment that following such a suspension, the BCR member acting as data exporter has to end the transfer or set of transfers if the BCR-C cannot be complied with and compliance with the BCR is not restored within one month of suspension. In this case, personal data that have been transferred prior to the suspension, and any copies thereof, should, at the choice of the BCR member

6.4 A statement about the relationship between national laws and BCRs-5.4.2 Obligations of the data importer in case of government access requests	YES	NO	N/A-Article 47(2)(m) GDPR	If in specific cases the suspension and/or notification are prohibited, the BCRs shall provide that the requested BCR member will use its best efforts to obtain the right to waive this prohibition in order to communicate as much information as it can and as soon as possible, and be able to demonstrate that it did so. If, in the above cases, despite having used its best efforts, the requested BCR member is not in a position to notify the competent SAs, it must commit in the BCRs to annually providing general information on the requests it received to the competent SAs (e.g. number of applications for disclosure, type of data requested, requester if possible, etc.). In any case, the BCRs must state that transfers of personal data by a BCR member of the group to any public authority cannot be massive, disproportionate and indiscriminate in a manner that would go beyond what is necessary in a democratic society. Without prejudice to the obligation of the BCR member acting as data importer to inform the data exporter of its inability to comply with the commitments contained in the BCR-C (see Section 5.4.1 above), the BCR-C should also include the following commitments:  i. The BCR member acting as data importer will promptly notify the data exporter and, where possible, the data subject (if necessary with the help of the data exporter) if it: a) receives a legally binding request by a public authority under the laws of the country of destination, or of an another third country, for disclosure of personal data transferred pursuant to the BCR-C; such notification will include information about the personal data transferred pursuant to the BCR-C; such notification will include information about the personal data transferred pursuant to the BCR-C; such notification will include information about the personal data transferred pursuant to the BCR-C; such notification will include information about the personal data transferred pursuant to the BCR-C; such notification will include information about the personal data transf

ii. If prohibited from notifying the data exporter and / or the data subject, the data importer will use its best efforts to obtain a waiver of such prohibition, with a view to communicate as much information as possible and as soon as possible, and will document its best efforts in order to be able to demonstrate them upon request of the data exporter.
iii. The data importer will provide the BCR member acting as data exporter, at regular intervals, with as much relevant information as possible on the requests received (in particular, number of requests, type of data requested, requesting authority or authorities, whether requests have been challenged and the outcome of such challenges, etc.). If the data importer is or becomes partially or completely prohibited from providing the data exporter with the aforementioned information, it will, without undue delay, inform the data exporter accordingly.

iv. The data importer will preserve the abovementioned information for as long as the personal data are subject to the safeguards provided by the BCR-C, and shall make it available to the Competent SAs upon request.
. The date important will review the legality of the request
v. The data importer will review the legality of the request for disclosure, in particular whether it remains within the powers granted to the requesting public authority, and will challenge the request if, after careful assessment, it concludes that there are reasonable grounds to consider that the request is unlawful under the laws of the country of destination, applicable obligations under international law, and principles of international comity.

	The data importer will, under the same conditions, pursue possibilities of appeal.
	When challenging a request, the data importer will seek interim measures with a view to suspending the effects of the request until the competent judicial authority has decided on its merits. It will not disclose the personal data requested until required to do so under the applicable procedural rules.
	vi. The data importer will document its legal assessment and any challenge to the request for disclosure and, to the extent permissible under the laws of the country of destination, make the documentation available to the data exporter. It will also make it available to the Competent SAs upon request.
	vii. BCRs shall specify the relationship between the BCRs and the relevant applicable law. The data importer will provide the minimum amount of information permissible when responding to a request for disclosure, based on a reasonable interpretation of the request.
	In any case, the BCR-C should state that transfers of personal data by a BCR member to any public authority cannot be massive, disproportionate and indiscriminate in a manner that would go beyond what is necessary in a democratic society <sup>14</sup> (as to the consequences of such cases, see Section 5.4.1above). The BCRs shall state that, where the local legislation, for instance EU legislation, requires a higher level of protection for personal data it will take precedence over the BCRs.

6 - TERMINATION 6.1 Termination	YES	NO	Article 70(1)(i) GDPR	In any event personal data shall be processed in accordance to the applicable law as provided by the Article 5 of the GDPR and the relevant local legislation.         The BCR-C should specify that a BCR member acting as data importer, which ceases to be bound by the BCR-C may keep, return, or delete the personal data received under the BCR-C C.
				If the data exporter and data importer agree that the data may be kept by the data importer, protection must be maintained in accordance with Chapter V GDPR.

No transfer is made to a BCR member unless the BCR member is effectively bound by the BCR-C and can deliver compliance.ii. The data importer should promptly inform the data exporter if it is unable to comply with the BCR-C, for whatever reason, including the situations further described under Section 5.4.1 above.iii. Where the data importer is in breach of the BCR-C or unable to comply with them, the data exporter should suspend the transfer.iv. The data importer should, at the choice of the data exporter, immediately return or delete the personal data that has been transferred under the BCR-C in its entirety, where:

The same commitments should apply to any copies of the data importer should certify the deletion of the data is deleted or returned, the data importer should continue to ensure compliance with the BCR-C.         In case of local laws applicable to the data importer that prohibit the return or deletion of the transferred personal data, the data importer should warrant that it will continue to ensure compliance with the BCR-C, and will only process the data to the extent and for as long as required under that local law.         For cases were applicable local laws and/or practices affect compliance with the BCR-C, see Section 5.4.1 above.

	The BCR-C should impose a duty to report changes, including to the list of BCR members, without undue delay, to all BCR members.
	The BCR-C should identify a person or team/department that keeps a fully updated list of the BCR members, keeps record of any updates to the BCR-C, and provides the necessary information to data subjects , and, upon request, to
